ZACH, TAYLOR'S ANGER -It is related that Gen. Scott's famous letter to Ziebary Taylor announcing the withdrawal of most of the tegular troops from Taylor's command, to be placed under his swa in a projected movement from Vera Cruz toward the capital of Mexico, was received while Geo. Taylor was at supper with his staff near Monterey. The General asked Col. Bliss to read it to him. He had just re-plenished his coffee cup and was ougaged in cooling it with a spoon while the reading went on. This appeared to make no further impression on him than that indicated by a contemptuous "soiff;" but as the real import of the letter began to appear, his whole manner changed, and he abstractedly dipped the speed into a bowl of mustard, which sat upon the table, and stirred it in the coffse. This he repeated until by the time the reading of the letter was fixish ed, the contents of the mustard bowl were exhausted. Without saying a word, and to Blisastonishment and horror, he raised the cup to his lips and gulped down the whole abominable compound. He then broke into an excited and profano haraogue, consigning to everlasting damnation every one encerned in the proposed depletion of his forces, and only coasing who: his speech was overtaken with a paroxism of stuttering, which, with him, usually falls red a violent outbreak of temper. The Colonel felt sure that from the amount of museud he had swallowed, combined with the intelligence has had received, is would infahibly maken him. but nothing uncommon come of it. "Raishane at that moment," said Bless, "would, I am convinced, have had no more effect upon him than upon the stomach of Mithridates." Pleasenton, who commanded the General's escort in Mexico, says that when once there roughly aroused he was the maddest min he eyer saw-mad from the crown of his hat to the soles of his boots LIEUTENANT COLONEL SAINT ANTHONY .-A remarkable document alleged to be preserved in the State erabives of Rio de Janeiro is published in a Lisbon military journal. Is would appear that King John VI, when Prince Kegent, was moved by pious favor to confer the grade of lieutenant colonel in the Portuguese army upon Good St. Anthony. The document in question is stated to be a literal copy of the royal commission made out by the war micis ter, at Don John's command. After the cus tomary titular preamble, is proceeds to state the public services of the Saint, in recognition of which the regent deemed it expedient to offer him the distinction of high military rank.

"The glorious St. Authory" -- so runs the text—"has, we are convinent, contributed, by his potent advecacy, to the blessed discusses of our armies, and to the achievement of peace to the Portuguese empire. Therefore, we have resolved to raise him to the rank of heutenant colouel of infantry. He will receive the usual pay through our field Marshel R curdo Xivier Cabral de Cunha, provisionally intrusted with the command of our troops in the capital, and with the office of captain general. Let our will be done! We have affixed our royal signmanual and great seal to this decree. Given at our capital, on the 31st August of the year after the birth of our Lord Jesus Christ, 1814. The person communicating this curious document to the official military iournal of Portugal adds that from the date of his commission as an infantry officer, Licutenant Colonel St. Authory has been borne unintercuptedly on the strength of the Portuguese regular gray down to the present day. Samebody-or rather, a succession of somebodies-has drawn the pay of this eminent member of the Caurch militant regularly for sixty five consecutive

PRESERVING FRUIT BY EVAPORATION .-Preserving truit, vegetables, etc., under the improved processes of steam evaporation has given rise to an enormous business. There are numerous evaporating establishments in Delawere and Maryland, some in Georgia and at least two or three in Virginia. The work is reduced to such a system that only the minimum of waste is possible. The skirs of the fruit are converted into jellies; the peach stones are sold to the druggist; the tomato peeling and the very scrapings of the table go to the catsup makers. The entire process of desiccation accupies about three hours. After being thus prepared the fruit is to all appearances perfectly dried and saplesa, but a few hours temeraion in water restores it to its pristing shape and coor. as well as to the natural flavor, which is its only cherm. Most of the workers are women, of whom the principal evaporatories and canneries each employ from 300 to 500.
